- One of the most active members in the field of finance and statistics of the Union Eslava is strongly advocating the purchase of buildings to house the Slav organization. While many of his fellow Slav workers believe it best to rent buildings, in view of possible repressive measures by the Argentine Government, Constantino Komaruk Lazarchuk appears to be convinced that the Government will not suppress Slav Communism, and that even if it did Slav Communist buildings would not be confiscated.
- Komaruk Lazarchuk also is energetically pushing a campaign to raise funds for the erection of permanent buildings for the Union Eslava.
- Byelorussian Communists in Argentina also are attempting to raise enough money to build a central headquarters home in Buenos Aires. They too have reportedly stated their belief that the Argentine Government will not take repressive measures against them.
